

CalFresh can help you live a healthy life

The FACTS about CalFresh . . .

- CalFresh (also known as Food Stamps or SNAP) helps people with limited income buy healthy food.
- CalFresh benefits are deposited to your Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) card. It is private and works like a debit card. It can be used at grocery stores and farmer's markets.
- CalFresh is a nutrition program like WIC (Women Infants and Children) or free lunches at school, not a welfare program. The taxes you have paid help fund CalFresh.

WHO CAN GET CALFRESH?

- You can get CalFresh even if you get money from a job, disability, unemployment, Social Security, CalWORKs, General Assistance or retirement.
- If you get SSI (Supplemental Security Income) you are not eligible for CalFresh. However, your family members may be eligible.
- To qualify, at least one household member must be an eligible immigrant or citizen. That person can be a child.
- If you are an immigrant and receive CalFresh benefits it will not affect your ability to become a US citizen or legal resident. Sponsored immigrants may also be eligible.
- Single people and couples without children may get CalFresh.
- Many college students can get CalFresh if they meet student requirements.

WHAT ELSE SHOULD YOU KNOW ABOUT CALFRESH?

- On average, households helped by Food Bank get more than $250 per month to buy nutritious food.

WHAT ELSE SHOULD YOU KNOW ABOUT CALFRESH?

- You can own your home, a car, have savings and still be eligible. You do not need to report CalFresh on your tax return.
